The Water Registrar, in explanation to an inquiry made by a gentloman living in the northwest portion of the city, in relation to the inadequate supply of water in the square bounded by its and Corcorai and Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, states that the Water Department cannot apply any remedy. The Water Registrar states that when the stand-pipe was first erected there were only 1,300 houses drawing water from it, but at present there are 2,300 houses supplied by the high service, At a late hour at night the high service is turned of sund the low service put on to enable the men to fill the stand-pipe for the next day, a wee. When the high service is first turned on 'n the morning a sclerably good stopply of water is firmished, but it is not long before the supply becomes weak from the draught made on the water pumped over night into the stand-pipe. The pump on U street only runs at about half its capacity, owing to the fact that there is not enough water to department sees which will help is for Congress to pass Senator Harris bill for an increased water supply.

MEDICAL COMMENCEMENT. Young Doctors from Columbian University-The Examination Prize. The annual communement of the medical de-partment of the Columbian University at Lincoln Hall was a britliant affair, and was witnessed by a large audience. The stage has seldom presented a handsomer appearance, the tasty grouping of foliage plants and masses of blooming flowers, blending with the rich colors of bunting, made a handsome spectacle under the full flood of the gaslight. The side walls of the stage were tapes-tried with large mational flags, and forming an arch of glowing light in the rear were the words "National Medical College, 1882," At each side of the front of the stage were handsome groups of foliage plants, and clegant floral designs and bouquets were musced in hears along the footlights. Hanging baskets filled with plants and flowers were suspended from the ceiling. On the platform were scated the members of the faculty, the gradualing class, and invited guests. The Marine Band rendered in their usual acceptable manner a number of selections during the evening. NORTH CAROLINA POLITICS.

T. R. Purnell, esq., in response to an invitation, addressed the North Carolina Republican Asso-ciation a few evenings since, explaining the political situation in North Carolina and the pros-pects of the Liberal movement imaggrating in that State. He said the probibition movement in pects of the Liberal movement inaugurating in that State. He said the prohibition movement in that State was erromously confounded with the temperance cause elsewhere; that prohibition in North Carolina was actuated by the same apirit as that which passed the county government act, taking from the people the right to elect county officers; that it was a sumptuary law; gave a monopoly of the liquor trade to Democratic druggists, and was class legislation of the boldest kind. Its effect was to counseate hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property, and was a Democratic scheme to get rid of revenue officers; that popular rights as against this species of class legislation formed the basis of the Anti-Prohibition party and would be the keynote of the Liberal movement in North Carolina. Many temperance men in the Republican party who could not understand the interest or scope of the act, or who were too much wedded to the temperance cause, had acted with the Prohibition party. Many of those had since changed their views. He defed any one to show a better record as a practical temperance man than be could; said he had canvassed in many counties as an anti-Prohibitionist and was ready to do his full duty to redeem the State from Bourbon rife; that President Arthur's administration would be worth many thousand votes to the party, for the young men of the State by the administration would be worth many thousand votes to the party, for the young men of the the will be vigorously prosecuted in the eastern district, especially crimes at the ballex-box, "M. Purnell was frequently interrupted by applance and a vote of thanks was unanimously tendered him by the association."

The "Mitchell Haiders." his session is the one for the relief of the survivof robel treatment to Union prisoners. There were twenty-two men engaged in this expedition, eight of whom were hung as spies at Atlanta, Ga, in June, 1862. The survivors disarrined their guards, after six months of close confinement in dungeous, fron eiges, and common jails, and eight out of fourteen then living escaped to the Federal lines, 200 to 400 miles away, and thus saved their lives and secured the release of those who were recaptured. These men claim that arrears are as jurily due them as any of the thousands that have already been paid large sums, and yet they made application by writing to Senators and members of Congress, years ago, but no action was ever taken in the flatter until this Congress took hold of it.

Mr. Scoville and the Bill of Exceptions.
Mr. Scoville arrived here from Chicago and Mr. Scoville arrived here from Chicago early yesierday morning. He had a brief consultation with Colonel Corkhill, and further proceedings were postponed until two o'clock in the afternoon At that hour Judge Cox, Colonel Corkhill, Judge Porier, Mr. Davidge, and Mr. Scoville mot in the Distret Attorney's office and proceeded to discuss Distret Attorney's office and proceeded to discuss the till of exceptions. It was after five o'clock when Mr. Scoville came out of the room and was met by a Republican reporter, who was in waiting. In surver to his questions. Mr. Scoville said that nothing definite had been done so far, and that he thought it would take several days to complete the work. He intends to slay here until it is finished. Mr. Scoville said he knew nothing about General B. F. Burler being retained in the case, and that even if he does take charge of the defense it will not be until the bill of exceptions has been settled and the record printed.
